BLAZE DAD'S PLEA FOR ANSWERS

THE father who lost his wife and five children in the Barn Mead house fire has made an emotional plea for help to "understand the tragedy that has befallen my beautiful family".

Speaking at a press conference called by police to outline the latest developments in their investigations, Dr Abdul Shakoor said: "Allah has given me courage to face this tragedy with patience, and so many people from across the community have supported me with their love and words and comfort at this terrible time.

"Today I am looking to the community once again for help in providing answers to the many questions that remain. I do not understand why my little children who were so happy and full of life, who had so much to live for, are no longer here.

"I ask from my heart that anyone with information comes forward to help."

The blaze in the early hours of Monday, October 15 claimed the lives of Dr Shakoor's wife, Sabah Usmani (44), and their children Hira (12), Sohaib (11), Rayyan (6), Muneeb (9) and Maheen (3).

Police have now revealed the house was burgled on the night of the blaze. Detectives are trying to trace a laptop computer taken from the room in which it is believed the fire started.

Good response to charity's shoebox gifts appeal

PILES of presents will soon be winging their way to some of the poorest families in eastern Europe thanks to the efforts of staff at a housing development in Harlow.

The team at Barratt Homes' Fifth Avenue complex have been busy collecting shoeboxes packed full of gifts and essentials donated by generous residents as part of Link Romania's annual Christmas appeal.

The boxes, which have been filled with games, soft toys, hats, scarves and gloves are being sent to families in Romania, Bulgaria, Ukraine, Moldova and Albania.

The developer is also offering to cover the £2 delivery cost for each shoebox.

Brendan O'Neill, managing director for Barratt North London, said: "We are very happy to show our support to such a worthy charity this Christmas."

"We hope that by becoming drop-off points and covering delivery costs, we will encourage local residents to donate a filled shoebox which will bring some festive joy to those less fortunate."

Lisa Hector, Link Romania's general manager, added: "It's great that a major organisation like Barratt should get behind our campaign, which brings so much pleasure to poor families."

Filled shoeboxes can be dropped off at the sales and marketing suite in Gladwin Way until Saturday. Pictured are sales advisors Penny Bloor and Carolyn Rayment.

12 staff at HWRA to lose their jobs

CLOSED: Harlow Advice Centre in the town centre

STAFF at the town's beleaguered Welfare Rights & Advice Service have been handed redundancy notices as Harlow Council presses ahead with the termination of its contract with the organisation.

Twelve employees at the not-for-profit service received official confirmation their jobs were set to go on Friday, three weeks after the council announced it was pulling the plug on HWRA's core source of funding because of unpaid debts.

The authority has refused to agree to a phased repayment of the money owed by the organisation, believed to be in the region of £120,000. HWRA has blamed the debt on temporary cash-flow problems and insists it would have been paid

by CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsexnews.co.uk back by the end of the year.

This week the acting chairman of HWRA's board of trustees Les Coben said he still remained hopeful of an 11th hour U-turn by the authority, despite the fact the council has told the Star it plans to put the contract out to tender as soon as possible.

"An ounce of commonsense is still all that is needed, preferably mixed with a spoonful of integrity," said Mr Coben. "I hope that, even at this late stage, the council can find those ingredients."

Although the authority provides a little over a quarter of the service's total annual budget, much of the external funding streams are dependent on provision of local authority funds.

The council has taken independent legal advice on the situation and claims it has been forced to act to protect taxpayers' money.

But HWRA says that by refusing to accept the terms of its proposed repayment plan, the council will plunge the service into insolvency – meaning the authority could struggle to recoup any of the money it is still owed.

Mr Coben added: "Harlow residents have demonstrated their support for this service, which is needed more than ever. "Apart from anything else, if the council were to carry out a full cost-benefit exercise they would quickly see that their coffers will suffer if they go ahead with this."

But council leader Mark Wilkinson said: "I am very sorry that matters have reached this point but the council's position has not changed."

"The council will meet its responsibilities under the terminated contractual arrangements and will continue to respect the duty of confidentiality placed upon it. If HWRA goes into administration, the normal route for creditors will apply."

"The council has advertised alternative service providers for those needing services and will shortly commence a new procurement process for a new contract."

Polling day for police commissioner

VOTERS in Harlow go to the polls today (Thursday) to elect the first Police and Crime Commissioner for Essex.

The election will signal a major shake-up in the way the county is policed, with the successful candidate being handed ultimate responsibility for setting priorities for Essex Police, overseeing the budget and hiring the chief constable.

A total of six candidates have put themselves forward for the role in Essex, with Conservative, Labour, UKIP and English Democrats hopefuls lining up alongside two independents in the ballot. The results should be known by tomorrow (Friday) afternoon, with the new commissioner assuming office on November 22.

● Voters living in the Toddbrook ward will also be able to vote in a Harlow Council by-election triggered by the resignation of Labour councillor Bob Davis.

Four candidates have put themselves in the ballot, with Labour hoping to see off challenges from the Conservatives, Liberal Democrats and UKIP to maintain their majority of seven on the authority.

Tragedy at Barn Mead

Police ask for CCTV footage as fire probe continues

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THE Barn Mead home gutted in a blaze which claimed the lives of six members of the same family may have been burgled before the fire started, police have revealed.

Dr Sabah Usmani, daughters Hira (12) and Maheen (3) and sons Sohaib (11), Muneeb (9) and Rayyan (6) all died after flames tore through the end-of-terrace home in the early hours of Monday, October 15.

Only Dr Usmani's husband, Dr Abdul Shakoor, survived the fire after battling in vain to save his wife and children.

Detectives now believe intruders broke in to the family's home after they had gone to bed on the night of tragedy and stole a laptop from the living room – the area in which fire investigators say the blaze started.

A laptop bag and power lead belonging to Dr Shakoor were discovered by two teenagers dumped in bushes in a cut-through between Whitewaits and St Michael's Close on October 26 – more than a week after the tragedy.

The youngsters were seen with the bag near garages in Whitewaits. They contacted officers on Thursday afternoon after police urged them to come forward and were able to show detectives exactly where they had found the abandoned bag.

The area was cordoned off on Friday as forensics teams searched for further clues.

Detectives this week appealed for any Whitewaits residents with home CCTV cameras to contact them as they believe someone could have footage of the laptop bag being dumped.

They have made a similar plea to people living in Barn Mead as cameras there may have captured images of a group of four young men wanted for questioning after being spotted outside the Shakoors' house around the time of the fire.

SCENE OF DEVASTATION: Damage caused by the blaze which is believed to have started in the living room at the back of the house. Police said the fire burned at such a high temperature that most of the contents were destroyed

They were all aged between 16 and 19 and were wearing tracksuits and baseball caps.

Two other teenagers on pushbikes were also seen near the scene of the tragedy at the same time. The first is described as 16-18 with ginger or light brown hair. He was wearing black jogging bottoms with stripes down the legs, a hip-length anorak style jacket with a hood and was riding a light-coloured bike.

The second is aged 16-18 and was riding a black mountain bike. He was wearing a light grey top.

The exact cause of the fire is still under investigation and police have refused to rule out the possibility it was a tragic accident.

To date, fire investigators have been unable to find any trace of fuel or other accelerants that could have been used to start the blaze deliberately. They are also unable to confirm whether smoke alarms installed in the privately-rented property were in working order.

Forensics teams are also still investigating a possible link between the fatal blaze and a fire-damaged Ford Focus found near the property.

Assistant Chief Constable Gary Beauridge, head of the Kent and Essex Serious Crime Directorate, said the investigation was one of the most complex in the history of the force, but added that he remained convinced the

Have you seen missing laptop?

DETECTIVES believe Dr Shakoor's laptop computer was stolen from the living room of the house before the fire started.

The black Toshiba Satellite laptop is still missing and police have urged anyone who has been offered a second-hand device matching its description to come forward.

Dr Shakoor told police he remembered leaving the laptop in the living room before going to bed on the evening of the fire.

Purchased in Saudi Arabia, it has a distinctive two-pin plug and can only be used with a UK power adapter.

answers lay within the Harlow community.

"This tragic incident is unprecedented in terms of its scale of loss and impact on the local community and our thoughts remain with Dr Shakoor at this difficult, and in his own words unimaginable, time in his life," he said.

"When we launched our investigation last month we predicted this would be a protracted and demanding inquiry but pledged that we would explore every avenue and search for the truth in spite of the challenges we would be presented with.

"It remains one of the most complex cases the investigative team have ever dealt with but we remain steadfast in our approach and confident the answers to this inquiry lie within the local community.

"The fire burned through the downstairs of the house at a very high temperature, destroying most of the contents," he said. "It took paint off the radiator and the fire and water used to extinguish it has penetrated the plaster and taken it back to the brickwork.

"Scientists have been sifting through the remains and have confirmed that to date there is no evidence of a flammable liquid being used. It is, however, important to emphasise that detailed forensic testing remains ongoing."

A dedicated telephone number has been set up for the investigation – codenamed Operation Shakespeare. Anyone with any information is asked to call 0800 0560 944 or email scdappeals@essex.pnn.police.uk.

Information can also be passed anonymously to Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Tragedy at Barn Mead

I do not understand why my little children who were so happy and full of life, who had so much to live for, are no longer here

DR ABDUL SHAKOOR

THE distraught survivor of last month's devastating house fire has made an emotional appeal for witnesses as he struggles to come to terms with the tragedy that robbed him of his wife and five children.

Struggling to fight back tears at a press conference on Thursday morning, Dr Abdul Shakoor pleaded for anyone with information that could assist the police investigation to come forward.

"It is impossible for me to put into words what the loss of my wife and children means to me and the devastating effect it has had on all of my family," he said.

"I cannot express the pain of losing my devoted wife Sabah and my beautiful children, Hira, Sohaib, Muneeb, Rayyan and Maheen. Maheen died in hospital just days before her fourth birthday.

"In the space of just one night I have lost everything dearest to me. Any father, any mother, anyone who has family who they love, will understand the pain that I and all my family are suffering.

"Allah has given me courage to face this tragedy with patience, and so many people from across the community have supported me with their love and words and comfort at this terrible time.

"Today I am looking to the community

once again for help in providing answers to the many questions that remain. I do not understand why my little children - who were so happy and full of life, who had so much to live for - are no longer here.

"I ask from my heart that anyone with information comes forward to help, so that I may understand the tragedy that has befallen my beautiful family.

"Even a small piece of information may make a difference and, however difficult it may be, I ask anyone who knows what happened to do the right thing, to come forward and to talk to the police.

"I am again thankful to all the community, the emergency services and all institutions for their great support at this difficult time."

Senior detective convinced the answers lie 'in the community'

THE senior detective spearheading the investigation into the tragedy said he is convinced the answers to what happened on the night of the fire lie within the local community.

Speaking to the Star on Thursday, Detective Superintendent Rob Vinson urged anyone with information relating to the events leading up to the blaze on October 15 to come forward.

"A young family and their mother have died in unbelievably tragic circumstances and we are confident the answers lie within the Harlow community," he said.

"I believe that someone in the town knows more about what happened that night and I would urge them to come forward and help the investigative team try to piece together the events leading up to the fire.

"Recent developments have moved the investigation forward in a number of directions and we now believe that there was a burglary at the house before the fire started in which items were taken from the house.

"We have recovered a laptop bag belonging to Dr Shakoor and there is a strong belief that the laptop would have been taken with it.

"If anyone has been offered this laptop, we want to hear from them."

DS Vinson said the ferocity of the blaze - which reached temperatures of up to 1,000 degrees - had hampered forensic investigations of the scene and may have destroyed crucial evidence.

"There is no doubt that forensic work has been made more challenging by the scale of the fire," he said.

"Scientists have been sifting through the remains and have confirmed that to date there is no evidence of a flammable liquid being used, but it's important to emphasise that detailed forensic testing remains ongoing."

He said smoke alarms installed inside the privately-rented end-of-terrace home were currently being tested as there was no indication they had been triggered by the fire.

"They are in for testing at the moment but there is no indication the smoke alarms went off.

"This is why these things take time and why we bring in forensic scientists to work with fire investigators."

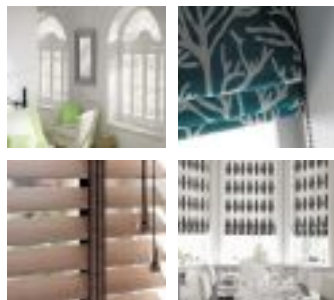

He added: "This is a terrible tragedy that has touched the lives of everybody living in the area.

"I just really want to reiterate our appeal for anyone with any information about the events leading up to this fire to contact us. Someone, somewhere must know something more."

Ellie's picture is auction's top lot

A BUDDING young artist has raised £2,500 for a children's hospice by auctioning off one of her mini-masterpieces.

Ellie Darby-Prangnell (11), of Halling Hill, Harlow, painted a vibrant canvas depicting a woman in a wheelchair with the words 'Rolling With Laughter' written above in bright red.

And she was thrilled when the colourful painting was sold for £2,500 at a charity auction run by the British Racing Drivers Club, attracting the largest bid of the evening.

Around 160 motorsport enthusiasts attended the event at the Silverstone racetrack, raising more than £22,000 between them for Little Havens Hospice.

Ellie's mum, Kim, said her daughter had wanted to give something back to the charity in recognition of the help and support it had provided to her and her family throughout her illness.

"Ellie has a condition that means she can become extremely unwell at times meaning lengthy admissions to hospital and misses a lot of school through her illness", she said. "The Little Havens Hospice gives Ellie the specialist care that she needs and the chance for us as a family to enjoy a break together."

She added: "Ellie painted Natasha Woods, an actress with a similar condition to Ellie and who is famous for her one woman show Rolling With Laughter. They've met each other and keep in touch; Ellie really looks up to her."

The painting was bought by auction organiser Michael Hipperson, who said: "My daughter and I thought the painting summed up Ellie's positive attitude to life, inspired by her hero to follow her dreams."

Little Havens Hospice provides support, care and breaks for adults and children living with disabilities.

Peter Hall, the charity's community fundraiser, described the Silverstone auction as a huge success, adding: "We're thrilled that Ellie's canvas was so popular. "Little Havens Hospice must raise over £46,000 each week to continue to care for children across Essex, so without generous gifts like this, we simply couldn't exist."

Cast a vote for newsreader Jenny in digital hero awards

THE community is being urged to get behind one of the town's unsung heroes after she was named as a regional finalist in a national 'Digital Heroes' competition run by telecoms firm TalkTalk.

Jenny Lushington, who was nominated for the accolade by Harlow MP Robert Halfon, has been volunteering for Harlow Talking Newspaper for the blind and partially sighted since its very first edition in 1979.

Now, as vice-chairperson, she organises volunteer rotas and records stories from the Star onto memory sticks each week before helping other volunteers deliver them to subscribers' homes across the town.

Jenny said: "The Harlow Talking Newspaper runs as an efficient team with each person contributing to the whole."

"By voting for me you would be voting for the whole team of volunteers who give up their time year in and year out to provide a sound recording of the Star."

The nationwide competition is searching for outstanding people who use digital technology to benefit their local community. Three finalists have been picked from 12 regions and winners will be determined by a public vote.

Mr Halfon said he was thrilled Jenny had made the shortlist.

"I visited the talking newspaper during my social action week and have seen the incredible work that Jenny does for the benefit of blind and partially-sighted residents. "I would urge everyone in the town to get behind her. She would be a most deserving winner of this award."

Eleven of the 12 finalists will win £5,000 to be used to improve their project. The overall winner, who will be chosen by an expert judging panel, will receive a prize of £10,000.

All finalists will also receive a year's TalkTalk subscription.

You can cast a vote for Jenny by logging on to the www.talktalk.co.uk/digitalheroes.

Get ready to rock at a charity night fundraiser

MUSIC lovers can rock out for charity at the Princess Alexandra Hospital Social Club on Saturday.

Stand Up To Cancer & Rock Out is the brainchild of PAH clerk Stephanie Franklin (27), who hopes to raise more than £500 for Cancer Research UK.

The event will feature a live performance from local covers band The Rolling Nines.

Stephanie, of Long Ley, Harlow, said: "Everyone will know someone who has been affected by cancer. My best friend recently lost her dad to Non-Hodgkins Lymphoma after a 15-year battle with the disease."

"This night will be a chance to get together, raise awareness, share stories and generally help stand up to cancer."

With all 120 advance tickets already sold, Stephanie is already well on her way to hitting her fundraising target.

"We're really excited about this event. It's been advertised on posters throughout the hospital and shop windows in town and we've got a lot of people buzzing about it already."

"Hopefully it will be a fundraising event to remember!"

The evening will also feature face painting, a cake stall and children and adult raffles. Ticketholders will even get the opportunity to handle a range of exotic animals, including bearded dragons.

The event starts at 7pm at the social club in Hamstel Road. Tickets priced at £6 each will be available on the door.

'Inspirational' youth band leader dies

TRIBUTES have been paid to one of Harlow's most inspirational music teachers, who has died at the age of 80. Cumbrian-born Bramwell Andrews Taylor first came to the town in 1964 after being offered the job of head of music at the former Netteswell Comprehensive School.

It was a post he was to hold for the next 20 years, during which time he set up the Netteswell Youth Band which won international acclaim through numerous foreign tours and competition wins.

When the school closed in 1984 Mr Taylor became a freelance musician, continuing to conduct Netteswell band and teach independently.

Band colleague John G. Smith, a former head of music at Mark Hall School, said Mr Taylor had been an inspiration to many.

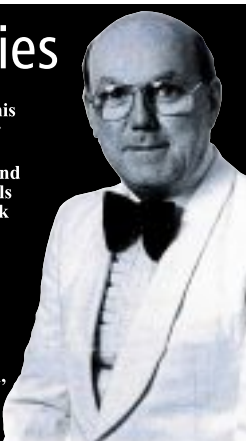

"His charisma, musical talents and generous spirit were such that he was able to gain and retain the loyalty of both adults and young people in his ambitious projects," said Mr Smith.

"Although the Netteswell Band is no more, many of his pupils continue to play and his work lives on."

Mr Taylor is survived by his wife, Cissie, daughter and son-in-law Linda and Hans Nickel and granddaughter Fauve.

His funeral took place at Potter Street Baptist Church, where he was a regular worshipper, on Friday.

Thieves load up with mouthwash after breaking into lorry at layby

THIEVES broke into a lorry while it was parked in a layby in Harlow and stole hundreds of pounds worth of mouthwash.

The theft happened on the A414 at Church Langley between 1pm last Tuesday (November 6) and the early hours of the following day.

A witness reported seeing a silver Mercedes car being driven away at speed from where the lorry was parked the lorry at 2am on the Wednesday.

The lorry's side curtain had been slashed open and four pallets of Listerine mouthwash had been stolen.

Detective Constable Dave Marsden, said: "We're looking to hear from anyone who saw a vehicle being loaded up with the items in the early hours of Wednesday morning."

"Anyone who has been offered Listerine for sale in unusual circumstances should also contact us."

Anyone with information should contact detectives at Harlow police station on 101.

● Five men, all from east London, have been arrested on suspicion of theft and released on police bail until February 7 next year pending further enquiries.

Halfon: Why I didn't support fuel tax rebels

HARLOW MP Robert Halfon this week defended his decision to vote with the Government and defeat a Labour attempt to scrap a 3p rise in fuel duty.

The Tory backbencher, who has spearheaded a high-profile campaign to drive down the spiralling costs of fuel on UK forecourts, refused to back the opposition's demand for a freeze during a debate in the House of Commons on Monday.

He told MPs he would not rebel as he believed the Government was in "listening mode" ahead of Chancellor George Osborne's autumn statement next month.

"I believe it is perfectly sensible and right to wait for the autumn statement, given the Government's record, given that they cut fuel duty last year and given that they have stopped two fuel duty rises," he said in the Commons.

"I have had discussions with various people and it is my view that the Government is in strong listening mode. If I didn't believe that I would make a point and go in to the lobby with Labour."

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Labour's call to delay the tax hike, which would not have been binding if successful, was eventually defeated by 282 votes to 234 after Treasury economic secretary Sajid Javid managed to avert a potential backbench rebellion by hinting that ministers could yet defer January's planned increase.

He said the Government understood the pressures facing hard-up households and was determined to help with the cost of living.

Speaking to the Star the morning after the vote, Mr Halfon said he had every faith the Government would stick to its pledge in next month's autumn statement – and insisted he would vote against any plans that would hit motorists in the pocket.

"There wasn't a cat in hell's chance of me backing Labour on Monday," he said. "They were the ones who in 2010 voted for an increase in fuel duty and then the following year opposed the Government's plans to cut duty by 1p."

"As Star readers will know, I have campaigned vigorously for a fairer deal for Britain's motorists. I am confident that the Government has listened and that the need to protect hard-pressed households from increasing costs will be reflected in the autumn statement.

"If it isn't, I will be voting against the Government when it really matters."

But Suzy Stride, Labour's parliamentary hopeful for Harlow, accused Mr Halfon of missing a "golden opportunity" to stand up for hard-working families and motorists in the town.

"He voted against a motion which called for Osborne to cancel the fuel duty rise till next April and he also voted in 2011 for the VAT rise that increased the price of petrol at the pump."

"The people of Harlow know that Halfon and his Government have now been in for two years yet they have failed to make the right decisions on the economy. Monday night was just another example of that."

Working together for Harlow

At the going down of the sun and Remembering time-honoured

TRIBUTES: Harlow MP Robert Halfon, above, and Harlow Council chairwoman Maggie Hulcoop, below, lay poppy wreaths at the Town Park war memorial

SILENCE fell across Harlow on Sunday morning as the town remembered those who made the ultimate sacrifice while serving their country.

As the clocks chimed to mark the 11th hour, those who gathered at the Netteswell Memorial Garden in Harlow Town Park stood in quiet contemplation as they paid their respects to the men and women who lost their lives in armed conflicts across the globe.

Veterans grow

HUNDREDS gathered at the Potter Street war memorial on Sunday morning for a service of remembrance organised by the League Of Gentlemen '95.

Veterans were once again joined at the memorial on Harlow Common by the congregation of St Mary Magdalene Church. A military re-enactment group formed a guard of honour throughout the service. The group then sang hymns before observing the two-minute silence.

Second World War veteran and League Of Gentlemen '95 chairman Albert Hobdell said he was "hugely grateful" to everyone who turned out.

"It means an awful lot to me and my fellow veterans to see so many people come out and pay their respects to those who have laid down their lives for our country," he said. "It shows that people of all ages and backgrounds have not forgotten how much they owe to the sacrifices made by those brave men and women. Long may that continue."

In the morning, we will remember them

the Fallen in the way set off from Burnt Mill School and headed along First Avenue and School Lane, accompanied by a marching band.

Veterans, soldiers and cadets then stood shoulder-to-shoulder with council dignitaries and members of the public as Rev Albert Watson led the service of remembrance in honour of the Fallen.

Among those who placed poppy wreaths at the base of the memorial were Harlow MP Robert Halfon and Harlow Council chairwoman Maggie Hulcoop.

"I have been attending Remembrance Sunday services here for more than 10 years now and I have to say this was the most poignant yet," said Mr Halfon.

"It made me incredibly proud to live in Harlow. It was very moving to see so many residents, both young and old, turn out to pay their respects.

"It shows that our community will never forget the sacrifices made by those brave men and women who lost their lives in the line of duty."

Cllr Hulcoop added: "The service was a fitting way to remember the men and women who lost their lives while serving for their country.

"We remembered those who fought for our freedom during the two world wars and we mourned and honoured those who have lost their lives in more recent conflicts.

"It was also a time when our thoughts were with those who have been seriously injured fighting for their country and those families who have lost loved ones."

Poppy Appeal concert a fitting tribute to all those who sacrificed their lives

MORE than 200 people attended a special concert of remembrance at Harlow Playhouse on Sunday night. Organised by the Harlow branch of the Royal British Legion, the evening featured performances by the Harlow Concert Band and a sermon delivered by Rev Albert Watson.

Standards from RBL branches across the region were paraded during the concert, the proceeds from which were donated to the Poppy Appeal.

Organiser Carlo Pelker said: "This was a most fitting tribute to the brave men and women who have lost their lives in armed conflicts across the globe and it was great to see so many people turn out to support the 2012 Poppy Appeal.

"Harlow RBL would also like to thank all the visitors to our manned stalls who have made donations to the appeal, which helps the RBL provide practical, emotional and financial support to all members of the British Armed Forces past and present, and their families."

Do more to restore the pride in our community

SIR, Once again I turn to the letters page of the Star to find that councillors are harping on about issues that respectable, hard-working Harlow residents don't really care about, such as the closing of a welfare rights service that works hard to ensure the feckless and workshy have their pockets sufficiently lined to enjoy a lifestyle equivalent to those that can actually be bothered to earn a living.

Unusually and thankfully I find that last week nobody has been murdered, although yet another serious assault was reported. That there was just the one assault is also a rarity.

However, do we ever hear concerns from our local policymakers about Harlow becoming overrun with violent wannabe gangsters, career benefit claimants, drug dealers, burglars etc? No, we don't. What we get constantly from our councillors are cleverly worded letters of political posturing on issues that don't affect residents' day-to-day quality of life. What an ineffective waste of space our councillors are.

Last week it was reported that one of those poor horses tethered to a Harlow roadside has been killed in collision with a car. Does it not occur to councillors driving around Harlow that horse-tethering is an extremely cruel and dangerous way to keep an animal?

The rest of us drive past and think how incredible it is that this practise is allowed to go on year after year.

I take this opportunity to appeal to policymakers to restore Harlow to the proud, safer community it once was.

Steven Howell
address supplied

Councils must act now to stop tethering of horses

SIR, So a horse has finally been killed on a road in Harlow. Surprise surprise!

Tethered horses break free frequently so is it any wonder? They should be free to run in fields.

The two ponies on the GSK roundabout have no water to drink. I rang the RSPCA and informed both the police and the council, only to be told that the owners water them twice a day. I simply do not believe that to be the case.

Put simply, someone in authority has to take responsibility and rid the town of this blot on our landscape and have the horses and ponies moved to where they can have some quality of life.

Surely the common could be fenced off to accommodate horses and walkers. We had the tragedy of a dog being trampled to death a few weeks back.

Is there anybody who thinks this treatment of horses and ponies is right for I have yet to come across anybody who does. I, for one, wish Harlow Council or Essex County Council would act and stop hiding behind excuses that the owners are complying with the law.

Name and address supplied

Taxpayers will foot the bill for closure of HWRA

SIR, I feel I must respond to the comments made by county councillor Guy Mitchinson, who states that Harlow Welfare Rights & Advice has been on borrowed time for more years than he can remember and politicians of all parties have expressed concern on how the organisation was being run (Letters, October 25).

For a man who, to my knowledge, in all the years he has been a councillor has never once stepped inside the offices of HWRA to find out what they do or speak to the staff, I must ask where his knowledge comes from?

Let me remind him that when his political party came to power in Harlow in 2006 they cut the funding of HWRA by 76 per cent. Since then the majority of our funding has come from outside sources and Lottery grants.

He also said that HWRA is not the best vehicle to deliver advice on welfare rights and benefits. If that is the case, then why does HWRA have so many referrals from the Citizens Advice Bureau, who often do not have the expertise to deal with complex cases?

If the service is terminated by Harlow Council it will not only cost a very large amount of taxpayers' money but will mean many residents will find they will not get proper help if they find themselves in financial difficulties.

Les Cohen
Rectory Wood, Harlow

Decision was made with too much haste

SIR, I strongly disagree with Cllr Tony Hall's assertion that the cost of Harlow Welfare Rights & Advice Service was never sustainable (Letters, October 31).

I don't know how long he has been a councillor or Harlow council taxpayer, but he appears to be very ill-informed on this matter.

Considering the Advice Centre was protecting Harlow people from the very cuts to disability, housing and other benefits that are being brought in by his Conservative government at Westminster, I would have expected him to be better informed.

As well as recouping money from Westminster, HWRA has also protected Harlow people from unfair dismissal at work, illegal low pay, and, historically for many years, from retailers who disregarded the law on the sale of goods. It has given debt counselling that has resulted in money being retained in the local economy.

For decades the dedicated staff have worked long hours in the support of the poorest, the most desperate and the neediest people of Harlow and all who have been unfairly treated. All of the money that they have recouped for the people of Harlow was rightfully theirs under laws enacted by our democratic system.

Over the years this money must have amounted to hundreds of thousands of pounds, more than the cost of the Advice Centre and this money has then been spent locally. In contrast, I believe the salary of the chief executive of Harlow Council is about the same amount as the total annual amount it paid to HWRA.

Mrs Miles, of Mallards Rose, Church Langley, said she was taking her huskies for a walk when she snapped this scene.

Cats are easy prey for the urban fox

SIR, When we moved out to what then was the outskirts of the town we saw many foxes. Unfortunately, they are top predators as a friends found on discovering that all that remained of their pet rabbits on one morning was their little bunny bob tails.

In recent months I have noticed foxes popping up everywhere, even in the centre of town.

Last night when visiting a relative who lives near Princess Alexandra Hospital I heard a noise in the garden. I looked outside in time to see a fox leaping the fence.

When I went out I discovered the body of young cat which had been savagely attacked, which brings me to my point. If you cherish your cat it might be a good idea to keep them in after dark now that the fox has no fear about coming into town.

First class service from hospital staff

SIR, I had the misfortune to have to call an ambulance for my husband. Although it was not classed as an emergency it arrived in 15 minutes.

He was taken to PAH and I cannot fault any of the services he received as nothing seemed to be too much trouble.

We hear so many negative reports about the National Health Service, but I thank them all for their support.

Peer faces no further action over expenses

NO further action will be taken against former Essex County Council leader Lord Hanningfield following a second investigation into alleged expenses fraud.

The disgraced peer served nine weeks of a nine-month jail sentence after being convicted of falsely claiming £28,000 in Parliamentary expenses last year.

Following his release, police launched a second investigation into claims he made while leader of the county council.

But on Tuesday City of London Police said Lord Hanningfield, who real name is Paul White, had been released from police bail.

A spokesman said: "Allegations of unauthorised expenditure against a 71-year-old man from Essex, originally made to Essex Police by Essex County Council, have been fully investigated by the City of London Police economic crime directorate, after being referred to them in December 2011.

"Following a full review of the evidence obtained from this investigation and consultation with the CPS, a decision has been made to take no further action regarding these allegations as there is insufficient evidence to justify any criminal charges in this case."

Lord Hanningfield said he was "relieved", adding: "My heart sinks to think of the hundreds of thousands of pounds the council has spent on this exercise through the hiring of expensive lawyers and the time and energy that could have been spent on delivering services for the people of Essex."

Abandoned cat saves her six kittens

By BIANCA CASTRO
star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A CAT rescue home is looking after a group of six kittens and their mother after they were dumped in bushes outside a vets' practice in Harlow.

The brood are being cared for by staff and volunteers at the Chestnut Cat Sanctuary after they were found inside a taped-up cardboard box in Wych Elm by local resident David Bryant.

Mr Bryant, who works for Kier Harlow, discovered the box after hearing the kittens' cries as he was on his way into town last Tuesday morning.

"I start work quite early and as I was walking past the vets towards town I could hear cats screaming," said Mr Bryant, of Staple Tye.

"When I had a look under the bushes outside the vets I found a box, which had been taped up."

When he first looked inside he could only see the mother cat who, in an attempt to protect her litter on the bitterly cold November morning, had been keeping the six kittens warm by lying on top of them.

"I saw that the vet only opened at 9am and it was 6am," he continued. "I couldn't leave the cat out there for three hours so I took her with me.

"It was only when I got to the

PURRFECT: The six kittens are recovering well from their ordeal after being dumped in a cardboard box

Kier depot that I noticed the kittens."

The cats were later taken to Chestnut Cat Sanctuary at Thornwood Common, where volunteer Anne King said they were recovering well after their ordeal.

"The mum and babies are fine," she told the Star. "The box they were found in was covered in frost so I don't know how long they'd been there. They were lucky to survive."

She added: "People are either too ignorant or too lazy to neuter their cats. Shelters are full and cannot take on many more. If the owners had called they would have probably been turned down."

The cats will remain together until the kittens are old enough to be rehomed. Mr Bryant has offered to adopt the mother himself when she is ready to be separated from her litter.

He said: "I'm a firm believer in protecting your kids no matter what and that was what this mother did by keeping her babies warm. I think she deserves a good home for that."

All cats adopted from the Chestnut Cat Sanctuary are neutered to prevent unwanted litters. Kittens are usually too young to be neutered but a voucher is given to the owners to pay for the operation when the cat is old enough.

Campaign to recruit more short break carers

A CAMPAIGN to recruit volunteers who can offer short breaks for children with physical or learning disabilities has been launched by Essex Council.

It wants to find people willing to provide regular overnight breaks or day care—after school, at weekends or during the school holidays—for disabled youngsters aged up to 18.

The breaks allow parents time to recharge their batteries or focus their attention on other children in the family while their child makes new friendships and enjoys activities outside of the family circle.

Short break carers can be working, unemployed or retired, single or with a partner and in good health.

No specific qualifications are necessary although they must be willing to undertake training and will be required to complete an assessment will include safeguarding checks.

Once approved, they will be matched with a child. In cases where the child needs assistance with personal care or medication, advice and training will be provided.

All carers receive an hourly or overnight fee.

Cllr Ray Gooding, the county council's cabinet member for children's services, said: "If you could provide a positive and enjoyable experience for a disabled child and are reliable, flexible and patient, joining our network of short break carers could be the ideal way for you to make a difference."

For more information call 0800 801530 or visit the council's website at www.essex.gov.uk/short-breaks.

WIN A pair of tickets to A Christmas Carol

FOLLOWING a sell-out season in 2011, Simon Callow stars in this acclaimed production of A Christmas Carol, which returns to London's Arts Theatre for a strictly limited season starting on November 29.

Charles Dickens' tale of miser

Ebenezer Scrooge is one of the best-loved books in the English language and has become a classic Christmas tale for generations of grown-ups and children alike.

As the ghosts of Christmas Past, Christmas Present and Christmas Yet To Come spirit Scrooge from the present to his past and future, Dickens takes us on a magical journey from the miser's dank and creaking house to cosy hearths and from snowy graveyards to joyful festivities. This treasured story offers a celebration of goodness, a plea for justice and the promise of redemption.

Based on Dickens' own performance adaptation, Simon Callow and director-designer Tom Cairns have created a one-man theatrical extravaganza of festive story-telling that is both heart-warming and deeply moving.

Callow, one of the nation's best-loved actors, returns to A Christmas Carol after huge international success with The Mystery of Charles Dickens, national acclaim for Dr Marigold & Mr Chops and an appearance as Dickens in Doctor Who.

He published his own biography of Dickens earlier this year.

How can you price a break on the big day?

WHETHER you're planning a big party or an intimate meal for two, if you haven't already made a booking for your Christmas celebration then it's time to get cracking! Perhaps you're procrastinating about eating out on Christmas Day. Maybe you think it will cost too much or may just be strange not being at home? Many will claim that eating out on December 25 is expensive – and when you take a look at some of the costs of festive feasts on offer, you can see why. However, when you add up the costs of entertaining at home, you'd be surprised at just how the two compare.

Last year the ingredients for Christmas dinner for six cost an average of £74, according to research carried out at the University of Nottingham. This year, with food prices even higher, costs are set to rise again.

Add to this the little extras such as crackers and table decorations and then maybe the price of Christmas dinner in the local pub or restaurant might look more attractive. If you eat out on Christmas Day it's understandable that prices will be higher than usual. It's not simply the spectacular one-off menu, but there are staff wages to consider, which are justifiably higher on Christmas Day. Most of us have their own Christmas traditions. For some, Christmas Day starts early and lapses into a lazy day of lounging and leftovers. For others, it's a day of recovery from Christmas Eve revelry.

For those looking to let someone else handle the cooking and cleaning on the big day, there are many great choices locally. But before you balk at the cost, just take a minute to weigh up the cost of doing it yourself at home, not to mention the added stress for the cook!

We had lots of laughs playing kipper flipper

IT was described as the “jolliest game for old or young” – and this wonderful photograph of members of the Mark Hall & Netteswell Community Association playing ‘flip the kipper’ back in the early 1950s would certainly seem proof of that.

The picture, which was brought in by Alain Fournier, left us scratching our heads as to what the aim of the game was. But we knew it wouldn't be long before one of our many Nostalgia readers got in touch to enlighten us.

Step forward Joan Lawrence (82), of Orchard Croft, who dropped into the Star office on Friday to tell all.

chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

was a popular favourite of the group in the 1950s and was regularly played in the common room at Moot House in The Stow.

“It was a really fun game, not just for the participants but for the spectators, too,” she said.

“Basically, each person taking part was given a wooden paddle which they would then have to use to flip a cellophane or paper ‘kipper’ across the room.

“The first person to get their kipper to the other side of the hall was declared the winner, but it wasn't quite as straightforward as it sounds. Because it was made of paper or cellophane, it would naturally fly all over the place – sometimes even backwards!

“It was always lots of fun, as you can tell by the photograph.”

Joan said she used to regularly attend social events at Moot House and even volunteered there as one half of catering duo Salmon & Shrimp.

“We used to lay on the spreads for Christmas parties and other community events up there. It was a wonderful time,” she recalled. “It was such a happy place, always full of life and laughter.

“One night you could be playing flip the kipper, and the next you could go square dancing. There was always something going on back then.”

● Were you a member of one of the community groups to have used Moot House over the past 60 years? Share your recollections with Nostalgia by writing to 6 West Gate, Harlow, Essex, CM20 1BW or sending an email to star@hertsessexnews.co.uk.

...but there was also a serious side to Moot House

READERS' Recollections of Moot House capture the lighter side of the building's post-war history, but it wasn't all fun and games at the community centre.

For the Grade II listed building was also the original home to Harlow's Citizens Advice Bureau, where the rather more serious business of protecting the welfare and rights of the town's first residents was carried out from 1956.

Indeed, ever-increasing demand for its services soon forced it to seek larger premises as its operations expanded, moving just two years later to new offices in Adams

House.

The CAB remained there for the next 20 years until, in 1978, Harlow Council decided it would be logical to centralise all the advice services located within the town into one building. As a result, the bureau moved into new offices within the Advice Centre in West Square, where it operated side-by-side with Harlow Welfare Rights & Advice Service and Consumer Advice organisations until April last year.

By this time the CAB had again outgrown its existing operation and opted to move to much larger premises due to increased demand.

It eventually settled on its current location in the former Lloyds Bank building in West Gate, an unintentional but appropriate reflection on the bureau's continuing commitment to investing in Harlow's future and its citizens.

Business plan behind town's newest hotel

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A NEW hotel has checked in to Harlow town centre – with the aim of becoming a “home from home” for business travellers.

The no-frills Holiday Inn Express in Crown Gate boasts 122 bedrooms, a bar, restaurant and extensive conferencing facilities. It has also created around 20 jobs.

Billed as a step-up from a budget hotel, its rooms all feature flat-screen TVs, high-speed internet connection and en-suite bathrooms with double power showers.

A bar serving a wide range of drinks and snacks is located on the ground floor, forming part of an expansive open-plan lounge and dining area that can accommodate over 100 guests at a time.

The hotel's impressive business credentials include conference rooms to suit all budgets, each featuring big-screen digital projectors and comfortable seating, as well as high-speed wireless internet available throughout the building.

Limited parking for guests is available at the rear of the building, which is located a stone's throw from the multi-storey NCP car park on Terminus Street.

General manager Viktorija Stanciukaite, who previously ran the Holiday Inn Express in Watford, said her aim was to make the hotel an affordable home from home for business guests.

“Many business people spend a lot of time on the road away from their families so we know how important it is to provide them with comfortable and affordable accommodation where they can relax and unwind.

“Our aim is to be a second home for our guests – somewhere where they feel happy staying time and time again when travelling on business.”

According to Ms Stanciukaite, the hotel's muted contemporary décor and ambient lighting have been designed with guests' relaxation in mind – and also provide the perfect atmosphere for a romantic evening meal in the restaurant.

“Our lounge bar and restaurant will both be open to the general public as well as hotel guests and we will be serving a range of competitively-priced evening meals from an ever-changing seasonal menu of traditional British food,” she said.

“So although we're aimed primarily at business travellers, we still have plenty to offer leisure guests and the general public.”

Room rates are competitively priced, with extra discounts and special offers available to members of Holiday Inn's Priority Club.

She added: “We've already had plenty of interest from local businesses as well as people coming in off the street to find out more about our facilities, so I'm confident we can become an important part of Harlow's fantastic community in the years to come.”

The elephant that talks

AN elephant called Koshik has astounded scientists by learning to speak Korean.

Researchers report that Koshik is able to imitate human speech and can now say five words in Korean.

He places the tip of his trunk into his mouth to transform his natural low rumble into a convincing impression of a human voice.

It means scientists have now added elephants to a growing list of animals able to mimic human speech, joining parrots, mynah birds and even beluga whales.

Dr Angela Stoeger, from the University of Vienna, said she first heard about Koshik's amazing abilities when videos of the elephant were posted on YouTube.

After making contact with his owners, she went to his home at the Everland Zoo in South Korea to study his unusual talent.

"We asked native Korean speakers who had never experienced the elephant before to write down what they understood when we played back recordings from Koshik," she told reporters.

"They found that his calls correlated to five Korean words: 'annyeong' (hello), 'anja' (sit down), 'aniya' (no), 'nuwo' (lie down) and 'choah' (good)."

But while Koshik certainly sounds convincing, the researchers do not believe he understands the meaning of the words he mimics.

Instead, they think the elephant took up talking as a way to bond with his human companions.

Our way to right the EU's wrongs

WE seem to be living in a strange world when alleged extremists like Abu Qatada, who has been described as Osama Bin Laden's right hand man, are allowed to make a mockery of the British justice system.

It seems incredible that this man can't be simply chucked out of the country.

This is not something that has happened just recently, but slowly over the past 10 years. One judge after another has seemed to prefer the so-called human rights of Abu Qatada – a man who is under worldwide embargo by the United Nations Security Council – rather than the rights of all the victims of terror and extremism.

The reason for this is clear. Sadly, the last government incorporated the European Convention of Human Rights into British law. This has made it almost impossible to deal with these people properly.

Nobody in Harlow that I meet is against human rights, but these rules were never intended to help extremists or to make Britain the laughing stock of the world.

The Prime Minister has now said he wants a proper British Bill of Rights instead of the complicated EU laws, but at the moment Conservatives do not have a majority of MPs in Parliament. The Liberal Democrats and the Labour Party do not support our plans so we cannot yet get them through.

I have now come to the conclusion that Britain must withdraw from these complex EU rules. We have to regain control over who is in this country.

In a democracy it should be the British people who should decide, for example, whether prisoners get the vote, not elected judges in Europe. Enough is enough.

Vote for police chiefs

A REMARKABLE thing is happening today in England. For the first time people will be voting to elect police commissioners. This is a Conservative-led reform, which I support. It will give Harlow residents a strong say over the kind of policing that they want to see in their neighbourhoods.

Whoever you support, please go and vote today. This is an historic election – it is the first time ever that YOU get to decide who is in charge of our local police.

'Black Run' meeting

FINALLY, as many Star-readers will know, I have also been working hard to try and get a solution for the 'Black Run' alleyway in Toddbrook, near Abbotsweld Primary School.

There is a public meeting this Saturday (November 17) in the main dining room at the Latton Bush centre on Southern Way, starting at 2.30pm.

I hope to see you there.

Christmas musical to lift the meanest of spirits

CHRISTMAS came even earlier to Harlow with a musical retelling of Charles Dickens' classic tale of redemption

It is no mean feat to be able to create something new out of a story that has been told, changed and adapted for more than 160 years, but Talkwood Productions were able to do it justice without keeping to the same expected formula.

For those who don't know, A Christmas Carol tells the story of Ebenezer Scrooge, a miserly misanthrope who is more concerned review

A CHRISTMAS CAROL
Talkwood Productions
Harlow Playhouse

with money than family and kindness.

Christmas Eve sees Scrooge meet three special visitors – the spirits of Christmas past, present and yet-to-come – who help to show him the error of his ways and change his life before it is too late.

A lot of laughter, a hint of sadness and a talented choir provided a brilliant recipe to get the audience in the Christmas spirit. Although there were not as many songs as the audience may have expected from a musical, those that featured were entertaining and helped develop both the characters and the story.

The choir, when singing and dancing together, were superb. Their energy and the music compensated for the small cast, with some actors playing up to three different roles.

The songs – written and composed by brother and sister team Patrick and Jessica Rufey – fulfilled many of my expectations and it was impossible not to become completely wrapped up in the performance.

But it was the performance of Tice Oakfield as Ebenezer Scrooge that really shone out. His portrayal could rival some of the best-known adaptations of the piece, with body language, face and voice working perfectly to bring one of the most miserable men of literature vividly to life.

A show to celebrate the best of Harlow

By CHRIS MOSS

THE spotlights will shine down on Harlow's vibrant arts scene at the Playhouse on Sunday when the theatre celebrates the town's 65th birthday with a stunning new variety show.

Featuring performances from some of the most talented dance, drama and music groups in the town, Harlow Pride & Joy has been organised by the council as a direct replacement for the invite-only civic dinner.

Music lovers can enjoy live sets from Harlow Steel Band and Harlow Chorus, while dance fans will be entertained by performances from Hip Hop Pop, Harlow Ballet Association and the Karen Chapman School of Dancing.

Inclusive performing arts group Razed Roof will be staging excerpts from their recent show InForm, while youngsters from Burnt Mill Performing Arts College's gospel choir will also be performing.

All proceeds from the show – which is a paid ticket event open to residents, councillors and dignitaries from Harlow and neighbouring towns – will be donated to Accuro, a charity offering support to people with disabilities and providing breaks for carers and families.

The event is the brainchild of Harlow Council chairwoman Maggie Hulcoop, who said it would provide the perfect platform for local arts groups to show audiences what they do best.

LEFT:
Razed Roof

"For my year as chair of the council I wanted an event which gives a platform for various community groups to perform, which raises money for my charity and which is open to members of the public," she said.

"Harlow Pride & Joy will be an event which celebrates and promotes the very best of Harlow and will be full of entertaining performances that young and old alike will remember for a long time to come."

The performance begins at 7.30pm on Sunday. Tickets cost £11 (£9 concessions) and are available from the theatre box office on (01279) 01279 431945 or online at www.playhouseharlow.com.

Nursery rhyme favourite is king of comedy

A NEW season of drama kicks off at Moot Hall tonight (Thursday) with a riotous comedy featuring nursery rhyme favourite Old King Cole.

For the first family production in their new season, Moot House Players are staging a hilarious work by Ilford-born writer and performer Ken Campbell, one of the most unique theatre talents to come out of Essex.

In his wacky, off-the-wall play, King Cole (Jon McNamara) lives in Buckingham Palace with his consort Brenda (Joan Lanario) and their sweet, dippy daughter Daphne (Kerry Rowland), who is due to be married off to the winner of a sporting contest between stuffy Baron Wadd (Robbie Chittick) and heroic Cyril the Fiddler (Michael Reese).

The surreal event is stage-managed with stunning ineptitude by the Amazing Faz (Alan Hodgson) and his assistant, the dopey Twoo (Dan Powell). Wadd has offered Faz a bribe to fix the contest, but somehow, despite elaborate cheating, things go just a bit wrong.

In the meantime, Daphne has fallen for Twoo and the second half of the show concentrates on subverting the intended royal wedding with the aid of a washing machine and a ton weight. Old King Cole opens at Moot Hall in The Stow tonight (Thursday) and runs until Saturday. Tickets cost £8 (£6 concessions) and are available from (01279) 639170.

Twilight's last gleaming

THE concluding chapter of the outlandish fang-fasy series based on Stephenie Meyer's best-selling books delivers a master class in constructing CGI mountains out of molehills.

Scriptwriter Melissa Rosenberg manages to expand 30 minutes of plot into two hours of anticipation and dread.

Part 2 begins with Bella (Kristen Stewart) re-awakening as a vampire. Opening scenes visualise her heightened senses – the sound of a spider spinning its web, the music of a passing breeze, a trickle of a bead of water down a glass.

She sees and hears everything, contentedly falling back into the arms of lover Edward (Robert Pattinson). Soon after, best friend Jacob (Taylor Lautner) arrives and is taken aback by Bella's rejuvenation.

Jacob confesses to Bella that he has imprinted on their half-mortal, half-vampire offspring, Renesmee (Mackenzie Foy). Once the young mother recovers from the shock and accepts Jacob as her daughter's protector, Bella and Edward settle into domestic bliss with the rest of the Cullen clan – Dr Carlisle (Peter Facinelli), Esme (Elizabeth Reaser), Alice (Ashley

THE TWILIGHT SAGA: BREAKING DAWN PART 2 certificate 12A, running time 1h55m

Greene), Rosalie (Nikki Reed), Emmett (Kellan Lutz) and Jasper (Jackson Rathbone).

Alas, their joy is shortlived when Edward's cousin Irina (Maggie Grace) mistakenly identifies Renesmee as an immortal child – an abomination under ancient vampire law.

She reports her fears to the Volturi, the vampire counsel led by Aro (Michael Sheen), Caius (Jamie Campbell Bower) and Marcus (Christopher Heyerdahl), and they marshal an army including sibling guards Jane (Dakota Fanning) and Alec (Cameron Bright) and enforcers Demetri (Charlie Bewley) and Felix (Daniel Cudmore).

A climactic battle royale between the diabolical Volturi and the Cullens is certainly spectacular and director Bill Condon, who also helmed Part 1, orchestrates this special effects-heavy mayhem with verve.

Airborne vampires and snarling werewolves tumble acrobatically across the screen while locked in mortal combat, their desperate struggles ended with a snap of a neck or crude decapitation.

But before all of the slaving jaws and severed limbs, the fifth instalment in the series doesn't justify the decision by film-makers to cleave Meyer's final book in two a la Harry Potter.

Substance is woefully lacking and there are only so many slow-motion smooches that can paper over the cracks before the most ardent members of Team Edward and Team Jacob will start to look nervously at their watches.

Stewart and Pattinson stare dreamily into each other's eyes to an angst-heavy soundtrack of Green Day, Ellie Goulding, Christina Perri and Feist, and make gushing declarations that inspire wry smiles in light of recent tabloid revelations.

Lautner appeases fans with another scene of gratuitous nudity, while Sheen devours the very expensive scenery as the bloodsucking elder with an unquenchable thirst for slaughter.

A protracted montage of the leading couple in clinches is yet more filler but Condon does deliver one nice touch by individually honouring actors from all five films as he fades to black.

THE END: Robert Pattinson stars as Edward and Kristen Stewart as Bella in THE TWILIGHT SAGA: BREAKING DAWN PART 2

ARGO On November 4, 1979, simmering tensions outside the US embassy finally boil over when militants break through the barricades and storm the building. Iranians capture 52 Americans and hold them hostage but six members of staff – Bob Anders (Tate Donovan), Joe Stafford (Scoot McNairy), Kathy Stafford (Kerry Bishe), Mark Lijek (Christopher Denham), Cora Lijek (Clea DuVall) and Lee Schatz (Rory Cochrane) – manage to escape and take refuge in the nearby residence of the Canadian ambassador (Victor Garber). Back on American soil, CIA extractor Tony Mendez (Ben Affleck) concocts an elaborate scheme to rescue the escapees by posing as a film producer who has come to Iran to scout for locations for a sci-fi epic called Argo. The six stranded embassy staff will adopt the guise of his crew and they will leave the country together under false passports. But when Tony arrives on Iranian soil, he soon realises all of his smooth talking and experience might not be enough to save the embassy staff from an Iranian firing squad.

SKYFALL With James Bond (Daniel Craig) reportedly killed in action and a database of M6 assets falling into the wrong hands, section chief M (Dame Judi Dench) is summoned to Westminster to appear before a panel including the new chairman of the Intelligence and Security Committee, Mallory (Ralph Fiennes), and ambitious rival Clair Dwyer (Helen McCrory). While M fends off sustained attacks on her reputation, news filters through that Bond has survived and M engages him to track down menacing cyber terrorist Raoul Silva (Javier Bardem). Working alongside Q (Ben Whishaw) and field agent Eve (Naomie Harris), Bond traverses the globe in search of Silva, crossing paths with the mysterious Severine (Berenice Marlohe).

MADAGASCAR 3: EUROPE'S MOST WANTED Alex, Marty, Melman and Gloria leave Africa to return to New York's Central Park Zoo but first head to Monte Carlo to reunite with the penguins. After a close encounter with tenacious animal control officer Captain Chantel DuBois, they seek refuge on a circus train and persuade Vitally the tiger, Gia the jaguar (Jessica Chastain) and Stefano the sea lion that they, too, are performing animals. As they train alongside the professionals, they know they must impress a big promoter in Rome in order to secure a booking in the Big Apple.

The Power of Pre-Marketing

There is a strong argument for creating maximum exposure for a property during its time on the market, and much of our effort and resources are spent achieving the right exposure in the right places.

However, one of the most powerful ways of securing a fast sale at a high price can actually result from minimal exposure or rather exposure only to a select few!

It works by taking advantage of the fact that people enjoy being offered something on an exclusive basis, especially when it is a property that is just about to come onto the market. So we often offer our new instructions off-market to our pre-registered hottest buyers first, resulting in a number of recent sales that were never even advertised!

Additionally, promoting to potential buyers that we also have properties that don't appear on our website or any portals creates a curiosity and a feeling that the buyer could be missing out on something good. This encourages them to register with us so they can then gain access to a potentially popular property with little or no competition.

The prices achieved using this method tend to be good as well, as buyers of such a property know that it is unlikely that the seller would consider anything other than the asking price during these early days of marketing.

We find that many sellers like the idea of an initial period of quiet marketing, especially in instances of a marriage break up, a death in the family, a prominent house in a small town, financial difficulties or any other reason where people don't yet want it to be publicly known that they are selling. The concept also reduces the risk of overexposure or of the property going stale on the market.

Of course, it does rely on a strong register of qualified buyers, but that's never been a problem for us at Geoffrey Matthew Estates!

Open Days, Do They Work?

They can be very successful, we have experienced a number of outstanding results recently but, there is a very BIG BUT!

First of all you must be new to the market and most importantly, you must make the price very attractive to encourage results.

That means be brave with your asking or guide price. Results suggest you need to make sure your price is between 5% & 10% below the average asking figure in your area for similar homes.

Don't worry, you are not under selling you are being competitive, and encouraging buyers to come along and look.

Finding a buyer means you can go out into the market as a strong purchaser and get a deal that normally compensates and more, in your favour!

Be positive, be competitive and you'll probably be successful as well!

It's well worth the effort give us a call for more ideas to help you sell quickly!

A winning transition

By Andy Enright

FORD Transits lead a tough life. Always have, always will – it's the nature of the market.

They need to cover a huge array of tasks, from rental fleet vehicles to crew buses, ice cream vans to site workhorses and airport taxis. In short, the Transit needs to be able to do almost anything.

A few years ago Ford realised that trying to do all that from one platform was just too big an ask and now the Transit is a family of models that encompasses everything from a lightweight Transit Connect city van right up to a hefty tipper truck.

The bedrock of the Transit range, and still the definitive model today, is what's now called the Transit Custom to differentiate it in the minds of buyers.

Whether you choose your Transit Custom with long or short wheelbase, as a standard van, double cab or Kombi minibus or in whichever payload or trim level, it'll come with a 2.2-litre TDCi diesel engine up-front.

There's a choice of output though, ranging from an entry-level 100PS unit, through a 125PS mid-ranger and on to the 155PS flagship motor if your hauling needs are heavier.

Whichever of these you choose, sales statistics suggest the bodystyle variant you're most likely to want to match it to is the short wheelbase, low roof model,

Test Drive

Ford Transit Custom

a version that should feel even more car-like to drive than its larger contemporaries. And Ford's engineers have certainly gone to great lengths to make this Transit feel more car-like at the wheel than ever before.

Tuning of the suspension components and steering system has resulted in significantly improved ride comfort, along with the required more precise and agile handling. Like the current Ford Focus, the Transit Custom also features the latest Electronic Stability Program technology with Torque Vectoring Control for better traction and stability.

One of the key criteria when developing the Transit Custom was to make it a good deal more upmarket to look at. In short, Ford wanted to launch a vehicle that people wouldn't feel ashamed to have sitting outside their house or on their driveways.

This Custom is certainly a good deal less blocky in its styling than old-school Transits, with a definite hint of Ford's trendy Kinetic design, especially around the front end. That big trapezoidal grille and the swept back lights aren't that different to the styling you'd see on a Focus or a Mondeo, something further emphasised by the pronounced shoulder line and the neatly sculpted wheelarches.

Get inside and you'll find well-sculpted front seats and a dashboard that wouldn't look out of place in a family car with a colour display panel on the dashtop, nice use of metallic finishes, wheel-mounted audio controls and a centre console that's clearly had some styling love lavished on it.

A van can have all the bells and whistles but be dead in the water if the numbers don't add up when it comes to running costs.

In this case, at first glance the mathematics appear to add up. The Transit Custom hasn't overreached itself on price and low running costs start with the excellent fuel economy delivered by the improved version of Ford's 2.2-litre Duratorq TDCi diesel engine.

Fitted with Auto-Start-Stop as standard on all Stage V vehicles, you'll see a combined fuel consumption figure of 42.8mpg, with emissions rated at 174g/km, which is a meaningful reduction of around eight per cent compared to the previous Transit.

Other factors that drive down overall cost-of-ownership are minimised maintenance and repair times, a 12-year anti-perforation warranty and the longest service intervals in the class at two-years/50,000 km/30,000 miles.

During the development process, Ford designers and engineers gave maximum priority to combining the largest possible load box within the Transit Custom's stylised shape. Particular attention was given to the detailed design of the bulkhead and body sides to optimise the size and practicality of the load space.

The result is that the Transit Custom offers best-in-class load volume of 6.0 cubic metres in the short wheelbase model and 6.8 cubic metres in the long wheelbase version . . . and that's just for starters. There's class-leading width between the wheel arches of 1390mm and an unparalleled opening height and width of the sliding side doors that can easily accommodate 8ft x 4ft boards, vertically or flat.

Other clever features available include a load-through hatch in the bulkhead which enables loads up to three metres in length to be safely carried inside a SWB Transit. An integrated roof rack system folds down when not required, reducing wind drag, plus there are lockable check arms on the rear cargo doors that enable you to lock them in place at 90 degrees open, even on the windiest days.

Repositioned tie-down hooks and fixing points are located on the body sides to keep the floor clear of intrusions, and there's an easy-clean load floor liner and ultra-bright LED load space lighting.

So is the Transit Custom the best mid-sized van you can buy? There's certainly no shortage of contenders for that accolade in a class characterised by strong competitors like Volkswagen's Transporter, Mercedes' Vito and Vauxhall's Vivaro.

The International Van of the Year jury though, had no doubt on the matter, pronouncing this Ford as its 2012 winner by an enormous margin. Their consensus was that this LCV had managed to set new standards in styling, driveability and load-carrying practicality.

They also praised its car-like feel, its safety and its low running costs. In short, they liked it very much indeed. Before this Ford came along, buying a van in this segment meant a balance of compromise between capacity, driveability and value. At the wheel of a Transit Custom, the need for such compromise vanishes.

It's now the go-to choice in its sector.

Scrap

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

End of the road? Get over it and move on with your local ATF:

B & T Motor Salvage

We offer free collection, on the same day if necessary, using our own recovery vehicles and issue a Certificate of Destruction from the Department of Vehicle Licensing Authority via our direct link to their website. Payment per vehicle negotiable.

Call Adrian or Mark on 01707 391333

Our services include prescription management, the compounding and delivery of medicines, nursing care and clinical support.

We currently have vacancies in our compounding unit. This work is undertaken in a clinically controlled environment or "clean room" which requires restricted people access to minimise the risk of any microbiological contamination. It also requires strict observation of methods, processes and procedure and the wearing of clinical standard personal protective clothing. We also need to ensure high level documentation trails are maintained to ensure the product we produce is fit for purpose and meets the high standards demanded by our licensing conditions.

We are looking for people who may find this opportunity is right for them. Whilst we will fully train anyone who joins Bupa Home Healthcare we are keen to hear from people who can demonstrate a mature approach to this type of work and who have the following qualities:

- The ability to work on your own unsupervised,
- Methodical and process minded,
- Trustworthy and mature attitude,
- Detail conscious and systematic.
- A team membership approach.

In addition to these key skills people will need to be able to demonstrate good command of business English and a reasonable degree of numeracy. Previous experience of clean room operation or any other compounding or similar production process would be a distinct advantage.

A shift system is in operation for this role. The pattern is currently Monday to Saturday 06.00hrs till 14.00hrs and from 14.00hrs till 22.00hrs rotating. The unit is based at the Spire Green Industrial Park in Harlow. The starting salary is currently £15,000 but there is the opportunity to increase base salary by up to 50% subject to meeting training requirements, gaining experience and role availability. We offer an up to date benefits package and full training for all of our roles.

If you believe this role is one where you can make a significant contribution then please send your CV and covering letter to Neil Moore, Human Resources Manager, Bupa Home Healthcare, Scimitar Park Roydon Road, Harlow, CM19 5GU or by e mail to nmoore@bupahomehealthcare.com

An improvement in your financial position may be closer to first suggest. If you feel you have reached out all you can to someone, and your feedback you have received is less than encouraging, you may decide enough is enough. In fact, any area of life which has seemed stuck don't want to do is let frustration boil over to you can feel stronger about breaking out than try to force an issue. With for a long time. A little bit of daring could work wonders, it's just letting go of what you know. Call me for more advice...

Scorpio Oct 24-Nov 22
One of your greatest qualities is your stickability, and you don't give in easily. And a situation recently may have required exactly these kind of characteristics. What you don't want to do is let frustration boil over to you can feel stronger about breaking out than try to force an issue. With for a long time. A little bit of daring could work wonders, it's just letting go of what you know. Call me for more advice...

Gemini May 22-Jun 21
The Sun moves into your sector of relating, and however much something hasn't been working, you might find it gets easier to see the bigger picture and not be so focused on the downside. Yet when it comes to your desires, you may find that something you want takes on almost obsessive proportions. This can have major ramifications for your love life. Call me now for your love scope in full...

Sagittarius Nov 23-Dec 21
Psychologically, it may have felt like you have been much less self assured of late. Or, even if some things have been bright and upbeat, a nagging self doubt has been undermining you. Some of this will melt away this week as the Sun plucks up in your sign. Energy and certainty may return, but doubts may linger romantically. Retail therapy may appeal. Call me for your love scope in full...

Cancer Jun 22-Jul 23
This can be a telling week for all sorts of relationships. You need to feel you can be true to yourself, yet you also need to be conscious that this is true of anyone you are involved with. Be aware that the balance of power in a tie may be about to change. If you feel that someone has held too much sway over you, you will want to reassert yourself better. Call me now for your love scope in full...

Capricorn Dec 22-Jan 20
If someone has been maintaining "radio silence" strangely, they may feel you have been remote from them. Venus' arrival in your sector of friendship and sociability can help to overcome this, but you might need to take the initiative. Even if part of you slightly resents this, once you make that call, soon you can be chatting happily away together again. Call me now for your in-depth forecast...

Leo Jul 24-Aug 23
The Sun powers into the most energizing and upbeat sector of your horoscope, and from now through to Christmas, may turn out to be a lot more sociable than you might have thought. And yet a major work or lifestyle question may need solving. And if you are really not enjoying one aspect of your existence, some kind of change seems inevitable. Call me now for your in-depth forecast...

Aquarius Jan 21-Feb 19
Your star remains influential may still need extra persuasion that you are the person to do that important role, or that you are worthy of their trust. The best way to thought. And yet a major work or lifestyle question may need solving. And if you are really not enjoying one aspect of your existence, some kind of change seems inevitable. Call me now for your in-depth forecast...

Virgo Aug 24-Sept 23
The desire to demonstrate your skills and flair is set to become so much stronger. Yet the details of your communications are open to misinterpretation still, so put extra effort into managing this well. This will be especially so if you are setting up plans for Christmas within the family. However, Venus suggests one person's company can enchant. Call me now for more news and astral advice...

Pisces Feb 20-Mar 20
Your future direction can be propelled forwards with some bold thinking, confidence and self-determination. In the past you may have missed opportunities because you pondered for too long. Now you need to be truly decisive in all areas of your life. This may mean improving your profile, networking and joining in more, but it can be exhilarating to just go for it. Town and Country Planning (Development Management Procedure) (England) Order 2010 (as amended)

NOTICE UNDER ARTICLE 34 OF PROPOSAL FOR LOCAL DEVELOPMENT ORDER GRANTING PLANNING PERMISSION

Proposed development at the London Road South Enterprise Zone site

Notice is given that Harlow Council proposes to make a Local Development Order (LDO), which would grant planning permission for specified types of development subject to, where appropriate, planning conditions. The LDO, when brought into force, would grant planning permission for those proposals that are in line with the requirements set out in the Order, Schedule and accompanying Design Code, to support the implementation of the London Road Enterprise Zone site. The primary purpose of the LDO is to simplify the planning process, reduce delay and provide certainty, thus reducing the costs for potential developers and businesses. The aim is to stimulate future investment and create new job opportunities to help assist the regeneration of Harlow.

From Thursday 15 November, the proposed Order and accompanying Design Code, along with a statement of the Council's reasons for making the Order (including boundary map of the affected area) and other relevant documents, will be available to view and download on the Council's website at <http://www.harlow.gov.uk/harlowLDO>

From the same date, these documents will also be available for inspection at:

- Harlow Council Civic Centre, The Water Gardens, Harlow (Monday to Friday - 9am to 4:45pm)
- Harlow Central Library, The High, Harlow (Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday - 9am to 7pm; Saturday - 9am to 5pm)
- Great Parndon Library, Parnall Road, Staple Tye, Harlow (Monday and Wednesday - 9am to 6pm; Thursday and Saturday - 9am to 5pm)
- Tye Green Library, Tilegate Road, Bush Fair, Harlow (Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday - 10am to 4pm)
- Old Harlow Library, 30 High Street, Old Harlow (Monday, Friday and Saturday - 10am to 4pm; Wednesday - 12pm to 6pm)
- Mark Hall Library, The Stow, Harlow (Tuesday and Thursday - 1pm to 5pm; Wednesday and Saturday - 9am to 1pm)

The Council is carrying out public consultation on the proposed LDO between 9am on Thursday 15 November 2012 and 5pm on Thursday 13 December 2012. If you wish to make any comments in response to this consultation, you should write to the Council at LDO Consultation, Forward Planning, Harlow Council Civic Centre, The Water Gardens, Harlow, Essex, CM20 1WG. Alternatively, you can email your comments to harlowLDO@harlow.gov.uk

All comments must be received by 5pm on Thursday 13 December 2012.

BBC film show for Bruno documentary

BBC cameras filmed former World Heavyweight Champion Frank Bruno when he attended a charity boxing evening at the Manor of Groves Golf & Country Club in High Wych.

A documentary about Bruno is being shown before Christmas and the retired boxer is president of the Harlow-based President's Sporting Club/Essex Disabled Sports Foundation which hosted the fundraiser on Monday.

Around £15,000 was raised on the night for the charity which aims to give sporting chances to disabled children.

Bruno, who turns 51 tomorrow, won the WBC Heavyweight Championship in September 1995 when he beat Oliver McCall.

The boxing fundraiser is run twice a year and was attended for the first time on Monday by former World Super-middleweight Champion boxer Michael Watson.

Watson 47, almost lost his life in a WBO Title fight against Chris Eubank in September 1991.

He was brain damaged but later completed the 2003 London Marathon, walking each morning and afternoon for six days and raising cash for the Brain and Spine Foundation.

Several former boxers attended Monday's fundraiser including ex-WBC flyweight champion Charlie Magri, ex-heavyweight British Title contender Billy Walker and former World Welterweight Champion John H Stracey.

Around 340 people supported the event at which there were 11 bouts involving boxers from Bishop's Stortford and Harlow.

It's martial arts mania

AROUND 100 people enjoyed martial art demonstrations at Passmores Academy in Harlow on Saturday.

Seven instructors from six different clubs gave the benefit of their expertise in an event arranged to promote the membership of local judo, karate and tae kwon do clubs.

Event organiser Claire Lomax said: "From the people who filled in our questionnaire, 100 per cent of them said they enjoyed the demonstrations. We also had two more martial arts clubs that said they would like to join us if we do this again. We had several community stalls offering information on the day, including West Essex Mind & Calm Centre."

HARLOW RUGBY CLUB YOUTH RESULTS: Essex Cup: Harlow U-16 7 (try - Liam Somerville), Romford U-16 53. Friendlies: Harlow U-14 55 (tries - Mason Sharp 4, Liam Jones, George Banks, James Napier 2, S. Kake), Barnet U-14 5; Harlow U-15 15, Upminster U-15 37.

on 77 minutes. A move down the right ended with a cross into the box which eluded a home defender as Hammond took one touch and rifled in.

Chapman added: "They came close once in the first half but we could have scored more.

"Hopefully it is a sign of turning the corner but I am not getting carried away."

First home defeat

HARLOW'S first home defeat of the season was worsened by Ben Light sustaining a cruciate ligament injury.

Light picked up his injury in the closing stages of Saturday's loss to East London and is set to be ruled out until the New Year.

Harlow included Joe Symonds who came back from a knee injury, but Dean Grace was ruled out by a hip injury.

London went ahead in the 10th minute with a shot that gave Harlow keeper Adam Johnson no chance.

The visitors then netted two more first-half goals through a penalty corner routine and then a goal from open play.

Early second-half action saw Harlow's James Munro fire a shot against a post.

Harlow scored on 55 minutes. A shot from skipper James Smith was blocked from a penalty-corner routine and the rebound was swept into the bottom corner by Craig Cholerton.

Five minutes later, London went 4-1 ahead with a smart reverse-flick finish.

Smith said: "I was happy with how the team reacted after half-time. We were unlucky not to score early in the second half which would have made things interesting."

Harlow visit leaders Wapping this Saturday.

Goals in vain as Ladies lose

CAROLYN Welsford grabbed a brace but this could not prevent Harlow from losing at Maldon & Little Baddow.

Maldon went ahead after eight minutes on Saturday but, after Harlow changed their formation in midfield, they improved.

The visitors equalised on 20 minutes through Welsford after exerting pressure on the home keeper with Emma Tweddle.

Maldon regained the lead shortly before the break and then scored again from a short corner early in the second half.

Welsford scored a fantastic individual goal on 55 minutes to cut the hosts' lead to 3-2.

Harlow had to be positive and push forwards, which meant they were leaving gaps.

They had some excellent chances but were unable to capitalise upon them.

Maldon attacked and won a free hit, which they were able to hit straight into the 'D' and scored to dash Harlow's hopes of even a point.

World Cup 'keeper a H&E star attraction

FORMER Leicestershire wicket-keeper and England one-day international Paul Nixon entertained around 120 cricket lovers at the Herts & Essex League presentation evening.

The 42-year-old, who played for England in the 2007 World Cup in the West Indies, was the guest speaker.

His speech included tales of Andrew Flintoff and his mischievous exploits, including the pedalo incident when the former Lancashire ace and England captain ventured out off the coast of the Reduit Beach on St Lucia.

Nixon also presented individual prizes for various achievements for the Herts & Essex League 2012 season at the event, which was held at the Park Inn hotel in Harlow.

Stansted marked their first year in division one with two awards. Jez Kealy picked up the prize for the most wicket-keeper dismissals (18), while Josh Monk won the U-18 Player of the Year award.

KURTIS Knightley is set to represent Essex U-18s again after he enjoyed a winning debut for the team.

The 17-year-old plays for the colts side at Harlow Rugby Club.

He made his Essex U-18 bow at outside centre when they beat Hertfordshire 17-10 in a London & South East match.

Knightley has played mainly as a back row forward this season.

His club coach Kevin Ellis explained: "He had a trial with Northampton Saints a year or so ago and nothing came of it. I put him forward to Essex.

"We moved him to the back row last year to improve his tackling. It has to be good in this position. He has done very well and we may move him back to centre for us."

He added: "Everything has improved about his play. His handling is good too."

Essex are set to play Middlesex in their next match on November 25.

Bert benched by bristling boss

THAMESMEAD TN 2, HARLOW TOWN 1 RYMAN LEAGUE, DIVISION ONE NORTH

THE changes were rung by Hawks boss Danny Chapman but his team still slid to defeat at Thamesmead Town.

Chapman dropped under-performing French keeper Bertrand Bossu and brought in Ryohei Tamai between the sticks for Saturday's clash at Bayliss Avenue.

Chapman said: "Bert has not performed to the best of his ability and needs to get his head right. Ryohei has played well in the games he has been in."

The back four was also revamped from the Chatham Town game last Tuesday.

On-loan Dagenham & Redbridge defender Andrew Burns went to right-back for Sam Konway, while Mark Taylor (returning from a thigh injury) replaced left-back Connor Cranmer who has quit Harlow Town.

Danny Brown also came in for his first start for two months and partnered Donny Barnard in central defence.

The visitors wasted several gilt-edged chances in the opening quarter.

The best of these saw striker Piers Wixon

DROPPED: Bertrand Bossu

fire narrowly over from 18 yards after only four minutes.

Thamesmead went ahead on 29 minutes. Brown handled the ball outside the box and Ashley Probet's free-kick flew into the top right corner.

But the visitors equalised four minutes later when Jake Cass fired home a 12-yard shot after a cross from the left by Taylor.

Harlow fell behind again a minute before half-time. A break down the left from the tricky Enoch Adjei saw his cross deflected to Lea Dawson who shot home.

A frustrated Chapman lamented: "We dominated the first half and nobody could have complained if we had been 2-0 or 3-0 up at half-time."

"We could not have done much for the first goal but the cross should not have come in for the second goal."

The second half saw Rob Carter shoot against a Harlow post twice on 55 and 66 minutes before Jeff Hammond headed wide at the near post from Taylor's 77th-minute corner.

Moments earlier a deflected Taylor shot looped just over.

Mitchell Das, the son of ex-Harlow and Bishop's Stortford player Marc Das, made his debut when he came on to the left flank for Tom Davie after 74 minutes.

Chapman added: "We did not perform well in the second half which was very disappointing. Mitchell Das did OK but we did not keep the ball well enough and get the ball to him as much as we would have liked."

HARLOW TN: Tamai, Burns, Taylor, Barnard, Brown, Muguo, Davie (Das 74), Mackie, Hammond (Bowes 79), Wixon, Cass. Subs not used: Bossu (gk), Bowes, Konway.

Att: 56.

Hawks into knockout stages

HARLOW Hawks won 99-55 in their final Herts Cup group game at second division Herts Warriors to reach the knockout stages.

The visitors scored an impressive 21 points in the last four minutes of the first quarter, with Rimantas Norkeliunas and Russ Stonehouse scoring well.

With just three seconds left in the quarter Zaf Niaz threw the ball the length of the court where Nick Moss converted for a 31-10 lead.

The Hawks refused to let up on their intensity on the defence in the second period, allowing the home side to put just eight points on the board in the whole quarter.

Good ball movement found sharp-shooter Shab Niaz who drained three three-pointers in quick succession.

He was backed up by Moss and Russ Allan who shone.

The Hawks took a huge 42-point lead into the half-time break (60-18).

Harlow looked a little sluggish in the third quarter.

Missed free throws – an Achilles heel for the Hawks this season – saw them go scoreless for three minutes, while the away side began to find ways to the basket for easy scores and to their credit never threw in the towel.

Stonehouse again had a strong finish to the quarter, nailing seven points in the last two minutes including a long-range three-pointer.

Harlow were 74-37 ahead at the end of this quarter.

The fourth quarter saw the Hawks resume normal service on the offensive end as they managed to score more freely again as Z. Niaz, Lee Jones and Dave Spashett had success running the floor for lay-ups.

HARLOW HAWKS: Moss (20pts), Stonehouse (19pts), S. Niaz (17pts), Norkeliunas (14pts), Allan (12pts), Spashett (8pts), Z. Niaz (7pts), Jones (2pts).

Langley leave after 7 losses

LANGLEY Rangers have pulled out of the premier division of the Footprint Bishop's Stortford, Stansted & District Football League.

Rangers, who played their home games at the Maypole Sports & Social Club in Harlow, have withdrawn after losing all seven league matches so far.

As Rangers have not played 75 per cent of their games all the matches involving them were expunged and the tables were altered accordingly.

Birchanger thrashed hosts Potter Street 5-0 in the first round of the Division One Cup.

TOP PLAYER: Great Britain player Greg Harlow, who is visiting Tye Green Bowls Club, in action (SPO0629481)

World No.1 player Harlow is coming to, er, Harlow!

WORLD No.1 ranked player Greg Harlow will be in action when Tye Green Bowls Club hosts a star-studded tournament this Sunday.

The Great Britain international, who lives in Ely in Cambridgeshire, was the prize capture by Tye Green member and English Bowls 2010 Singles outdoor champion Steve Mitchinson. Harlow, ranked No.1 in the world by the WBT (World Bowls Tour), is the only player to have won the international open three times in a row and is a former World Indoor Singles champion.

England international Mark Royal and current English Singles champion Perry Martin will also be playing at the Tillwick Road venue in Bush Fair.

England international Nicky Brett, half of the successful current English Pairs championship-winners, is also in the draw.

Mitchinson (37) has helped to organise the event that will be sponsored by Dagenham-based rental and leasing company First Containers. There will be £2,000 prize money with the winner from the 64-player event getting £1,000.

Mitchinson, who will also be playing in the event, and has been a member at Tye Green for more than 20 years. He said: "It should be a really good day. A lot of internationals are coming and it should be a high-class field. A lot of the players have won English titles."

"There is a buzz about it at the club and a lot of people are excited. It is definitely the biggest competition we have had here."

He added: "To get Greg Harlow is very special. That was the icing on the cake and he is the top-ranked player."

Mitchinson hopes the competition will appeal to all ages.

Admission is free and the competition will start at 9am and finish at about 10pm.

Hawks keep it in family

Boss Chapman swoops for son of former favourite Das

By DAVID RIMMER

HAWKS fans will be hoping new signing Mitchell Das is a chip off the old block.

His father, Marc Das, played for Harlow between 1981-82 and 1985-86, after coming through the youth team set-up at the old Sportscentre ground.

He was a respected forward and went on to have a top non-League career with his home town club and close rivals Bishop's Cleeve.

Das senior said: "I came through round the time of Andy Walker from the youth set-up. It was at a different ground then but we had good times."

"I was about 18 or 19 and Ian Wolstenholme was the manager when I came in."

Das brought his son into senior football at Saffron Walden Town and has observed his progress more recently when he came in for short spells at Sawbridgeworth Town, where Das is first team coach.

Mitchell, 23, a forward who can play on the wing, has Ryman division one north experience and has had spells at Redbridge and Maldon Town over the past two seasons.

Das snr said: "When he first came into men's football he was only a boy and people knocked him off the ball. He has come into his own now. Terry Spillane [when manager at Redbridge and Maldon] has been a good manager for him.

"The experience he has got at Maldon and Redbridge has been good for him."

He added: "I would like him playing for me but you want to see him progress and hopefully he can help Harlow up the table. He is Harlow born and bred."

"He is good at taking free-kicks and corners and he has quick feet and is quick."

Hawks boss Danny Chapman said: "I have seen Mitchell Das play a few times. I got him through Ryan Jessey who does bits and pieces for us."

"He can play on the wing or up front and he does not have to play with a big man up front."

"He can get crosses into the box and he can get off defenders. He will bring us width."

Mitchell's arrival comes after winger Joshua Cooper was released, while ex-Millwall ace Gary Bowes has disappointed and been dropped to the bench. This was after a great debut which saw him score two goals against Wroxham.

Chapman said: "We have struggled with wide players. We will give [Das] an opportunity and see how it turns out. If he works [hard] and does well he will start in the team."

Chapman said: "We wanted to keep him but he wants to go to America to study [and play football]."

FORMER Redbridge striker Jeff Hammond fired in four goals for Harlow Town against his old club on Tuesday, but the win was tempered by a serious heart scare over left-back Jordan Gill.

Gill had an MRI scan at hospital after complaining of chest problems on Tuesday.

Hawks boss Danny Chapman said: "His heart has been inflamed. Hopefully it is nothing serious for Jordan. We are not certain."

In the light of what happened to Bolton Wanderers midfielder Fabrice Muamba's at White Hart Lane in March, Gill took no chances.

On the plus side, Hammond's splendid performance thrilled Chapman.

Hammond had only scored twice this season before the Redbridge clash.

Chapman said: "He deserved it. He has worked hard this season and I am very pleased for him."

"We have played better in recent games but it was a difficult pitch and we did what we had to do."

The Hawks went ahead in the 20th minute when a throw from the right resulted in Hammond bursting between two defenders to shoot across goal into the far corner.

Three minutes later, Hammond doubled the advantage when he nodded home a Tom Davie cross from the left.

The Hammond hat-trick was completed on 40 minutes when he tapped home a cross from the left.
